

SPLENDID MAN DIES TUESDAY

Mr. Charles H. Rice, Aged 71 Years,
Succumbs to Heart Disease
Tuesday Morning.

The death summons came to Mr. Charles H. Rice Tuesday morning at four o'clock after a short illness of heart trouble. He was an old Confederate soldier. Of a kind nature, he had by his genial disposition and consideration of the feelings of others made for himself a host of friends who will learn of his death with sorrow. He was a member of the Christian church and had been a follower of Christ since early childhood. Funeral services will be conducted at his late residence Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock by Rev. Clyde Darsie, of the Christian church with burial in the family lot at North Middletown cemetery.

He is survived by his wife and three sons, Messrs. J. A. Rice, of this city; J. Walter Rice, of North Middletown, and Corwin A. Rice, of Galveston, Texas. Sad indeed, is the passing of such a man. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

HIGH SCHOOL LOSES

The base ball team of the Mt. Sterling High School was defeated by the Winchester High School team on the home grounds Monday afternoon in an interesting game by the score of 7 to 5.

Miss Mary Devine severely cut her right hand Saturday in handling some glass jars at H. G. Enoch's store.

Mrs. Sarah Anna Conner Stricken With Paralysis Succumbs in a Few Hours.

Friends were grieved to learn that Mrs. Sarah Ann Conner, widow of Mr. Richard Conner, who died a few years ago, had been stricken with paralysis and died Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Conner had been in her usual good health and her death was a severe shock to her relatives and family.

She was a good, Christian woman, the mother of a large family and was always happiest when surrounded by her loved ones. Mrs. Conner is survived by nine children, Mrs. Alfred Gott, of Oklahoma; Mrs. Thomas Perry, Mrs. Geo. Barry and Miss Hattie Conner and Robert, Elsherry, Clay, William and Elwood Conner, all of this county. Mrs. Conner is said to have been a cousin of the mother of Abraham Lincoln.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence Saturday morning by Rev. Clyde Darsie with burial in Macphelah cemetery.

The Advocate tenders sympathy to the bereaved family.

FITZPATRICK AGAIN LOSES

The jury in the now famous case wherein W. T. Fitzpatrick sought to regain control of his estate, now in the hands of A. L. Tipton, Committee, and valued at approximately $125,000, unanimously found him to be of unsound mind and incompetent to manage his estate. This verdict was generally expected, notwithstanding the existence of a strong sympathy for Mr. Fitzpatrick.

It is thought now that the noted case, which has been tried a number of times, is ended and that any further attempt to restore to him his property rights, would be useless.

RETURNS TO MT. STERLING

Mr. Stewart McCormick and family returned to Mt. Sterling last week from Leesburg, Fla. and will make their home here. Mr. McCormick moved to Florida a few years ago but has found out that there is no place like the "Old Kentucky Home." He will take an interest in the McCormick Lumber Company. We welcome them home again.

The Merchant and the Community

The small city merchant is a necessity, and that which is necessary should be protected. The community needs his wares as much as he needs the community cash.

But not every small city merchant is alive to his opportunities and his obligations.

Many of them fall by the wayside because of their ignorance of or indifference to the rights of the public.

Fifty years ago the city merchant sat in his store and waited for business to come to him.

Today the successful merchant is a hunter—he must go out gunning for customers—and his ammunition is his stock in trade and his gun is the local newspaper.

Country people of today are as intelligent and up to date as their city cousins, and they gauge the merchant by his own actions.

If he is a hustler—if he keeps his store clean, his goods neatly displayed, his advertisement running regularly in the local paper—he attracts the public eye, and the public follows its eye.

But a clean store, neatly displayed goods and newspaper advertising are not the only requisites of a successful mercantile career.

The country merchant should bank too much on the fact that he is a necessity.

He should be progressive—constantly bidding for trade—devising means of bettering the condition of the consumers, and acquainting them of the fact. He should consider their welfare, as well as his own.

The merchant should have one iron creed, and that creed should never be broken: He should treat all customers alike, never misrepresent his goods, and keep his shelves well stocked with truth.

He should be considerate of other business men in the community, for their rights are as great as his own. They do not own the town, and neither does he.

He should join wholeheartedly in movements for building up and expanding on the topmost rounds of the ladder.

The merchant who has built up a reputation as a public spirited man, as one who labors for the well being of the whole community, never lacks for customers at his store.

They migrate toward his door as naturally as the birds fly south in winter.

Both merchants gain the confidence of the people, for the people know that the same intelligence and fair mindedness which he exerts in behalf of the community will be extended to his customers in commercial life.

Most country towns have a few merchants in their midst, and the community is the better off for their presence.

You invariably find their advertisements in the local papers, telling of the merits of the wares they have to sell, and giving the people that information to which they are clearly entitled.

Such men are successful, because their methods of business and their very attitudes breathes success.

They have many customers, because the people admire a hustler.

This town is located in a splendid community, and it should have a bright future ahead of it.

But it depends upon us alone.

We have some good business men in this city.

They are well supplied with brains, and those brains are capable of accomplishing great results.

Individually they can do much, but collectively they can revolutionize trading conditions of this community.

The money that is being daily sent away for goods might just as well be spent at our local stores—and would be, if the merchants arose to the opportunities before them.

It is the easiest thing in the world to keep the money at home, for consumers are not fools.

Just keep the goods the people want, and of the quality they want.

Sell those goods at a fair margin of profit, thereby competing in quality and price with the outsider.

Then advertise persistently—keep the home goods constantly in the mind of the consumer—awaken him to the fact that it is as much to his interest as to yours to keep his money in circulation at home.

When you CONVINCE the consumer that you HAVE the goods that he wants, and that they can be purchased here JUST AS CHEAPLY as elsewhere, he will keep his money at home BY TRADING AT HOME.

The people WANT a live community, and are willing to SUPPORT live business men.

Who is in the LIVE CLASS? Speak up, gentlemen—SPEAK UP!

BUYS OUT PARTNER

Mr. V. M. Hainline who has owned a one-half interest for some time last week bought the interest of his partner, Mr. Bruce Charles in the livery and hitch stable on Bank street and will take charge of and conduct the business. The filly is out of Janice Merrideth and is a full sister to Montgomery Bell (1) 2:27½. She is a fine individual and of good size. Mr. Crossman was accompanied here by Ed. Willis, of Lexington, who will train her. Willis said he thought she was one of the best yearlings he had ever seen.

SALT LICK WOMAN DIES

Mrs. J. M. Pierce, Mother of W. O.
and C. P. Pierce, of This City
Dies Saturday.

Mrs. J. M. Pierce passed away at the Jackson Hotel at Salt Lick, on Saturday morning, April 24th, at two o'clock. She had been in failing health for several years, but her condition was not considered critical until a few weeks ago.

Funeral services were conducted in the hotel parlors by Rev. John Cheap, pastor of the Salt Lick Methodist church, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Barnes' burial ground.

Mrs. Pierce was the daughter of the late W. T. Razor, of Salt Lick. She was a life-long member of the Christian church and among her relatives and near friends, was familiarly known as "Peachie."

She was in her sixty-ninth year, and had she lived until January, next, would have been married forty-nine years.

Besides her husband, "Uncle" Jim Pierce, of Salt Lick, she is survived by all of her children, four in number, viz.: Miss Emma Pierce, of Salt Lick; C. P. and W. O. Pierce, of Mt. Sterling, and Mrs. W. C. Kantz, of Oneda, Tenn., and eight grand children. She also leaves one sister and two brothers: Mrs. Tom Jones, of Millersburg, and W. W. and T. J. Razor, of Salt Lick.

"Breathe not a word, ye idle, thoughtless ones! Only does greatness come to those who feel

Only the mighty majesty of love Can the uplifting hand of death reveal.

No woe, no joy, no pleasure, without pain.
'Tis unrelenting nature's great decree,
Nor high nor low, the aged or the young,
Are from the scope of this great mandate free.

To her be honor! who has led the way
By words immortal and by deeds that shine
Down the dim vista of the coming years.
Love-lighted memory will her name enshrine."

ALL RECORDS ARE BROKEN

More People Attended Sunday School Here Than Ever Before in History.

Go-to-Sunday-School Day in this county was the largest ever held in this section, and the churches and Sunday School rooms were crowded. There was an attendance of 656 at the Christian church, 378 at the Methodist church, 203 at the Presbyterian church and 187 at the Baptist church in this city, making a total white attendance of 1,424.

About 735 were in attendance at the colored churches in the city.

At the Grassy Lick Methodist church there were 79, at Camargo 96, at Somerset 119 and there was a large attendance at Antioch, Donaldson, Spencer and Gilead churches. The total of white pupils in attendance in Montgomery county was estimated at above 2,000, with more than 1,000 colored pupils present.

The Sunday School movement has been growing all over the State for several months and the slogan has been "A Million in Sunday School in Kentucky on April 25th," and we are confident when the returns have been finally tabulated it will be found that there were fully that many in attendance.

At the Spencer Sunday School those in charge had set the figures at 150 but their labors were rewarded by an attendance of 182. All denominations were represented.

THIS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT ADVERTISEMENT I EVER CAUSED TO BE PUBLISHED.—READ EVERY WORD—AND THEN MARVEL!

On a personal visit to Mr. Henry Ford I broached the subject of a possible August 1st Rebate.

(The Ford Company announced last year—as you well remember—that if their total sales reached 300,000 cars between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, each purchaser during that period would receive back a refund of $40.00 to $60.00.)

"Mr. Ford," I suggested, "Is there anything I can say to our people with regard to the Ford Motor Company's 300,000 car rebate plan?"

"We shall sell the 300,000," was the quiet reply—"and in 11 months, a full month ahead of August 1st!"

"Then a refund is practically assured?"

"Yes—barring the totally unexpected. We are 50,000 to 75,000 cars behind orders to-day. Factory and branches are sending out 1800 daily."

I then said to Mr. Ford: "If I could make a definite refund statement we would increase our local sales 500 cars."

"You may say," was Mr. Ford's deliberate and significant reply to this—"You may say that we shall pay back to each purchaser of a Ford car between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, barring the unforeseen, the sum of $50. You may say that I authorized you to make this statement!"

What can I add to the above? $15,000,000 cash coming back to Ford owners! And to prospective Ford owners up to August 1, 1915, it actually means—Ford Touring Cars for $490—less the $50 rebate! Ford Runabouts for $440—less the $50 rebate! What is there left for me to say?

APPOINTED ADMINISTRATOR

In County Court Thursday, Mrs. Mary Todd, widow of the late J. King Todd, waived her statutory right to qualify as administratrix of her said husband and upon her motion, her son, Ed. M. Todd, of this city was appointed administrator of the estate of the said J. K. Todd, deceased. Whereupon he qualified by taking the oath prescribed by law and executing bond in the penal sum of $20,000 with Wm. S. Lloyd, R. C. Palmer and Mrs. Mary Todd as sureties.

The Court appointed Yancey Laughlin, Benjamin Dalzell and James Douglas appraisers of the estate.

PARIS COUNCIL REFUSES LICENSES FOR SALOONS

The council of Paris Thursday refused by a vote of 5 to 2 to renew the licenses of the fifteen saloons of the city knocked out by the recent decision of the Court of Appeals. All of the fifteen saloon-keepers applied for license and a proposition was made by D. C. Parrish and W. T. Brooks that the licenses be granted for thirty days from April 20, the date of the decision of the Court of Appeals.

It is not known what the "wets" will do, if anything, further to obtain licenses, but the general belief is that the saloons will close.

BLUE GRASS DAY

For the purpose of discussing the advisability of organizing an affiliation of commercial organizations and similar bodies of business concerns and individuals in the Blue Grass region, the Board of Commerce of Lexington has decided to call a conference of men interested in the development of their communities and of Central Kentucky, to meet in Lexington at the Phoenix Hotel on the morning of Thursday, April 29th, at 11 o'clock.

On the afternoon of this date an opportunity will be given for the members of the conference to attend the Idle Hour Stakes event of the Races, and at 8:14 in the evening they will have a chance to hear the noted author and lecturer, Mr. Elbert Hubbard, at the Ben Ali Theater. The Lexington Board of Commerce has arranged to reserve the seats on the stage for the men from the Blue Grass towns. Mr. Hubbard's subject will be "Getting Together," and his speech will be in line with the purpose of the conference of that morning. Reservations for the seats in the Theater can be made by communicating promptly with the Lexington Board of Commerce.

The business men of Lexington have recently consolidated their several commercial organizations, and the Board of Commerce with nearly one thousand members is undertaking to establish a co-operative effort on the part of all the cities of the Blue Grass for a greater development of the wonderful possibilities of this section of Kentucky, and for wider publicity all over the country as to its advantages.

The purpose of Blue Grass Day is to discuss plans for an organization along this line, and at the same time to give as many men as possible in this part of the State an opportunity to meet together for the inspiration which Mr. Hubbard will bring. Then men of this community are most cordially invited.

JUDGE BENTON HOLDS "DRYS" WON IN CLARK

Judge J. M. Benton Thursday upheld the validity of the recent local option election at Winchester, in which the "drys" were successful. He cited the decision of the Court of Appeals, which sustained the county unit law, and showed that there were not irregularities enough in the election to have changed the result of the election. He said that if the votes alleged by the "wets" to have been illegally cast were conceded to be illegal, in all the precincts where the voters failed to show their registration certificates, the result would still have been a victory for the "drys." The advocates of the "wet" side of the question were depressed at the decision. The "drys" were jubilant.

AGASSIZ REBELLED.

As a Youngster He Had a Strenuous Time in Neuchatel.

An anecdote of Alexander Agassiz's boyhood in Neuchatel, in the days when that Swiss canton was administered by the Prussian officials, shows that the man who was to become so famous as a scholar and man of science had his full share of a healthy boy's mischievousness. The story is told in his "Letters and Recollections."

The small boys of Neuchatel were much interested in politics. They were arrayed in two parties, the Royalists and the Reds. The former were devoted to Prussia and loyal subjects of Friedrich Wilhelm; the Reds were ardent Swiss patriots, who wished Neuchatel to have the same republican form of government that the other Swiss cantons enjoyed and who resented the authority of the governor, an appointee of the king of Prussia.

The governor, who liked to show his authority in the smallest details, was so lacking in a sense of tact and of proportion as to complain to Louis Agassiz that his little son was not saluting him with enough politeness. Alexander was punished, and when he met the governor on the street the next day he saluted him with exaggerated abjectness. The governor complained of that, too, whereupon the elder Agassiz, much incensed, gave his son a sound thrashing, for the father was a great admirer of the king, who, at the suggestion of Humboldt, had assisted him in many ways. Not content with his victory, the governor singled out his diminutive adversary at a school celebration and held him up for reproach before a large audience.

When it was Alexander's turn to receive his prizes from the governor he was so angry that he refused them with scorn, turned his back on the representative of the king and, to the delight of the Reds, walked out of the room. That led to further punishment at home.

Infuriated at the governor's treatment, the youthful patriot collected a band of confederates of his own age, stormed the castle on the night of a large dinner party, at which his father was present, and smashed all the windows of the state dining hall. Louis Agassiz, suspecting the instigator of this outrage, rushed home, but found his son safely in bed and apparently asleep.

Commenting on this episode in after years, Alexander Agassiz remarked that it was perhaps fortunate he came to the United States at an early age, for with his views he would surely have been hung or shot before he had grown to middle age!

Close Buying.

"Commend me to the average woman shopper for real shrewdness," says the manager of a well known establishment. "We received a visit from one the other day that taught us something."

"She was considering the purchase of a yard of silk at 80 cents. The woman's purchase left a remnant of a yard and a half, which the salesgirl suggested that she should take."

"What'll it cost?" asked the shopper.

"Fifty cents."

"I'll take it," was the prompt response, "and you may keep the yard you've torn off."—Youth's Companion.

Blind Justice.

We meet our philosophical friend and observe that he is smiling contentedly.

"What has gone wrong now?" we ask.

"Nothing has gone wrong," he explains. "Something went right. Spriggins owed Hennett $10,000 and put his property in his wife's name so that Hennett couldn't collect."

"But that isn't anything unusual."

"And last night Mrs. Spriggins eloped with Hennett!"—Life.

A Mixed Metaphor.

Sir Robert Ball, the famous astronomer, was rather fond of telling the story of a correspondent who wrote to him saying that, although he was a grocer's assistant, his great ambition was to become an astronomer. But he got his ideas somewhat mixed, for this was one of his sentences, "My mind finds no rest for the sole of her foot save on one of the heavenly bodies."

Why He Is Disappointed.

"I am disappointed," said the doctor, "if I don't make a hundred dollars a day."

"Oh, come off!" they cried. "What are you giving us? You know you never make a hundred dollars a day."

"I know it," he assented plaintively, "and so I'm always disappointed."—New York Press.

MR. JOHN S. DUTY

Mr. John Samuels Duty has the laudable ambition to serve the citizens of Mt. Sterling in the important position of City Clerk and authorizes us to say he will submit his claims for the consideration of the voters at the State primary in August, when his name will appear on the official ballots as a Democratic candidate.

Mr. Duty enjoys a wide acquaintance and a large family connection; is a young gentleman of good business capacity and will, therefore, be a formidable candidate for the position he seeks.

Being capable and worthy, we ask for his claims the earnest consideration of the Democratic voters of the city.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS

Some very encouraging things are transpiring in Kentucky today. The first is the "Go-to-Sunday-School" movement, which is spreading over our Commonwealth like wildfire. Time was, and within the memory of nearly all of us, when the Sunday School was considered in connection with children only and hardly an appreciable per cent. of adults thought it worth their while to go. Today, in every city, town and village, and at every church, large or small, a growing and enthusiastic Sunday School class can be found. This, in our judgment, speaks well for Kentucky's future and evidences the dawn of a new moral era.

The second encouraging thing is the fact that men of the high sense of character and individual prominence of Senator-elect Beckham and Judge Ed. C. O'Rear are willing to stake their reputations and political futures upon a moral conviction. It matters not whether one agrees with them or not. One is nevertheless forced to accord to them full credit for earnestly striving for better things and higher ideals of citizenship as they see them.

WATTERSON'S WEAK SPOT

The great editor of the Courier-Journal had a long editorial in his paper Tuesday which probably is the opening gun of his present campaign against State-wide prohibition. Forgetful of the fact that vinegar does not catch flies, he scores the state-widens fore and aft, and insists that no prohibitionist can be a Democrat or a Christian. Mr. Watterson pretends to be utterly careless as to who is nominated for Governor by the Democrats, insisting that matters will be worse, it matters not which of the half dozen candidates knock the plum, but his onslaught on the "drys" and the "dry" candidates makes it readily apparent that the target which he is firing at is Mr. McChesney, with the hope that a few scattering shot may strike Mr. Newman. It has been an open secret for many years that Mr. Watterson is hand in glove with the whisky people and his abuse and ridicule of the temperance cause and its candidates will have little effect with the voters, who have long since come to the conclusion that the "grand old man," like the rest of human beings, has a weak spot and that it is for booze and its furtherance, and while they will read his articles, because of the beautiful English and superb diction in them, they will take no advice from him, but will do as they have for years—wonder why in the name of common sense he does not turn his attention and devote some of his incomparable ability to fighting for a cause, greater, grander and better than the making, selling and drinking of whisky. —Stanford Interior Journal.

SABBATH SCHOOL ORGANIZED AT LEVEE

Fine Prospect of Growth.

Dear Sirs:

As your valued paper is read by many in this locality, I trust you will publish the following which may interest a large number in this vicinity.

Some of the good people of the Levee, believing that every neighborhood should have a good Sabbath School, have organized a union school at Gilead church. They met last Sunday and duly elected a Superintendent, Vice Superintendent, Secretary and five teachers. All of them are earnest Christian men and women, experienced, competent and enthusiastic. They represent Presbyterian, Christian, Methodist and Baptist belief, and also the different sections of the neighborhood. It is hoped and expected that from now on the scenes of former days at this old church will be revived, and that Sunday afternoons will see many vehicles hitched around the church, and large numbers of people in the building engaged in the study of God's Word. Here is our opportunity. Let parents come and bring their children. Let young people come. Let everybody come. Eight good and respected citizens of the community have pledged themselves to conduct the school if the residents want it. Now is our chance. The hour is three o'clock every Sunday afternoon. Let our watchword from now on be, "Meet me at old Gilead Sunday at three o'clock." (Correspondent.)

STOCK NEWS AND SALES

S. F. Deal, of Stoops neighborhood, had a nice mule to take blood poison and die. He was valued at $100.

Gay Shroat, of Bath county, bought here from J. S. Wheeler, twenty-eight 525-pound steers, at $40 a head.

J. S. Wheeler sold eighteen 325-pound yearling steers at $28 each and a fat bull at $36.

Robert Gay, of Sideview neighborhood, had valuable brood mare to die Tuesday leaving a four-weeks-old mule colt. Cause unknown. Valued at about $125.

Several carloads of hogs were shipped from this city the past week to the Cincinnati market, which had been purchased in the county at from $7.25 to $7.40 a hundred.

James Harve Henry sold to W. B. Greene, a bunch of 250-pound hogs at 7 cents a pound.

John Childers bought from Miss Mary T. Henry, a ten-year-old mare for $125.

Mrs. G. W. Kincaid purchased from a Mr. Ginter, of Stepstone, a nice milch cow at $45.

House for Rent.

My residence on west High street, containing eight rooms and bath. All modern conveniences. Apply to Henry Maher or Oldham & Frazer. 43-44.

STOCK LOOKING GOOD

*Stock of all kinds is looking good, with cattle in excellent shape, having been fed heavily for months, while sheep and lambs are in as good condition as was ever seen in this county at this time, the open weather proving a great benefit to lamb industry. Most of the lambs have been contracted for many months and most of them sold at 7 and 7½ cents, while wool was sold at 25 and 30 cents a pound. Lambs are growing very rapidly, and ewes have been very prolific this year. There has been some loss in the county of lambs by mongrel curs, and it is said that more of them are at large than ever before.

GREAT RACE MEETING

The races now being conducted at Lexington this week are of a higher class than for several years. There are more horses quartered at the track than ever before in the history of the track. The officials are to be congratulated upon the manner in which the sport is being conducted.

MOBERLY LAND DIVIDED

Messrs. D. J. Burchett, A. S. Hart and Robert Howell, the commissioners appointed by the Court to divide the land among the heirs of the late C. O. Moberly have filed their report. They allotted 125 acres of improved land, including the old residence property to Miss Minnie Moberly, 93 acres of unimproved land to Mrs. Bessie Moberly Howell, and 126 acres of unimproved land to the two children of the late Lenn Moberly. The difference in the allotment was on account of advancements made to Mrs. Howell and her deceased brother, Lenn Moberly. The estate as a whole is valued at about $45,000.

RELIGIOUS

Next Sunday is special day for the young people in the Baptist Sunday School. All of the young people are especially urged to be present.

"Meet me at old Gilead," at the Levee, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. We have a Sunday School now. Everybody invited. Good teachers—good officers, new supplies, new enthusiasm. "Meet me at old Gilead."

Do not fail to be present at Howard's Mill Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3:30. The choir from the Mt. Sterling Baptist church will be present and furnish special music. Subject at the Baptist church Sunday morning: "Contrary Winds."

Next Sunday evening at 7:30 the "Sunbeams" of the Baptist church will have an open session to which the public is cordially invited. The program will consist of songs, recitations, etc., concerning mission fields. This organization will be one year old Sunday, the meeting, therefore being its first anniversary.

The Chautauqua Circle held an interesting and enjoyable session with Mrs. B. W. Trimble Friday. Refreshments were served the guests. There were quotations from Benjamin Franklin and a sketch of his life by Mrs. Charles K. Oldham, and Mrs. J. E. Lindsey told the life story of Captain John Smith. The guest of honor was Mrs. Hulda Barnes, who had been a member of the Chautauqua Circle for many years.

IS INJURED IN FALL

While coming out of the post office one day last week Mrs. M. G. Satterwhite in some manner became overbalanced and fell down the entire flight of steps. She was picked up by an employee of the post office and aside from a few minor bruises she thought she was all right, in fact she went to Louisville for a couple of days and aside from the pain of the bruises suffered no inconvenience. Upon her return to Mt. Sterling however she began suffering with a pain in her side and upon a physician examining her he found she had fractured a bone in her left side. It is thought that she will be able to be out within a few days.

RECEIVER IN CHARGE

Indemnity Fire of Covington Organized During Kentucky Famine Last Year.

The Indemnity Fire Insurance Co. of Covington, Ky., which was organized during the trouble in Kentucky last year is in the hands of a receiver. The action was brought by Lewis F. Runck, of Cincinnati, one of the promoters of the company in the Kenton Circuit Court on the grounds that the concern was insolvent. Mr. Runck also asked judgment for $772.84 which he claims to have advanced. The plaintiff further alleges that the company has permitted judgments to be taken against it and executions levied against furniture, fixtures and other property, thus creating a preference of creditors. Judge Tracey appointed Master Commissioner W. N. Hind receiver.

Secretary Farrar, of the Kentucky Fire, has sent out notices of assessment to policyholders in that company calling for the payment of such assessments at the office of the company not later than May 10. It will be recalled that the Kentucky Fire was launched during the insurance famine in Kentucky last summer.

We understand this company had a number of policies in this county.

DRUGS

CONDITION OF CROPS

Light rains throughout Montgomery county at different intervals last week have proved of immense benefit to all growing crops, grass and tobacco beds being especially helped. Many growers of tobacco have good plants from beds that were rolled when first sown and then packed down after the freezes, but other beds that were left with the soil loose are lacking in plants and seed in the soil has been materially damaged. Preparations continue here for a large acreage of the weed, possibly an increase over last season. Much ground has already been made ready and some growers contemplate setting out by May 15 or sooner.

Corn planting time is here, and all indications point to a very large acreage. There has been some corn planting done, but most of the raisers are waiting until in May before putting the seed in the earth. A great deal of foreign seed corn is being used in this county this season, and farmers say that they are going not only to try and increase the amount grown per acre, but to improve the property as well.

There has not been a time in recent years that enough corn has been grown to satisfy the demand, and thousands of dollars have been sent out from this county each fall and winter to buy hundreds of carloads which have been shipped in here. Farmers and stockmen say that they are going to try and remedy this to some extent this year by growing more on their own lands.

Wheat and rye are looking much better, and grass pastures have begun to jump. Stockmen figure on turning out cattle May 1st, but grass will be shorter than usual at that time. Meadows are in fair shape, and the rains have aided the oats sown this spring very much.

Garden truck is in good shape, and much vegetation is up and thriving in all gardens. Most of the gardens have been planted, but there is some fear of frost on beans, butter beans and the like.

Test of fruit trees show that no damage has been done, and every indication points to a good crop of peaches, pears, apples, cherries and grapes. All trees are in bloom and shade trees are showing leaf quickly.

There has been considerable whitewashing done and farms are looking in excellent shape everywhere.

MARRIED AT LOUISVILLE

The following from the Courier-Journal of April 23rd will be of interest to many of our readers, as Mr. Greene is well and favorably known throughout this section:

Mr. Lucien D. Greene, the attorney, and Miss Virginia Graves, daughter of Mrs. Avis Graves, of the Cortlandt apartments, were quietly married at the home of the bride's brother, Allison Graves, 211 Peterson avenue, yesterday afternoon. The wedding was a surprise to friends of the couple as it had been announced to take place next week, but, to avoid the formality of a church wedding, it is said Mr. Greene and Miss Graves decided to marry yesterday. The Rev. Francis Irwin, of the Fourth-avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. Mr. Greene is a brother of Samuel W. Greene, Judge of the County Court. He came to Louisville a few years ago from Mt. Sterling.

After the ceremony Mr. Greene and his bride left for a honeymoon through the East. Upon their return to Louisville they will live at The Cortlandt.

A SUMMER HOME AT PARKS' HILL CAMP GROUNDS WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL

120 Building Lots at $60 each and up. Lease runs for 20 years.
Each has a Dooryard of twelve acres.
Build you a Cottage--$55.00 and $65.00--or pitch your tent.

We will sell a 20 year's lease to desirable citizens on lots of sufficient size upon which to build a standard size cottage, for $60.00. The local sawmill will deliver all the material for building the cottage for from $45.00 to $55.00, and we can secure home carpenters to erect it from $7.50 to $10.00. You can tent on it instead of building, if desired, and a 9 1/2 x 12 tent will cost $8.50.

$60.00 for a twenty year lease is a bagatelle as compared to our city taxes, water rent or electric lights.

A cottage at Parks' Hill Camp Grounds is the best scheme with which to reduce the cost of high living yet devised.

Twelve weeks spent at Parks' Hill Camp Grounds will prove a mental and bodily rest, as well as a mental feast.

If you get tired of your cottage at Parks' Hill Camp Grounds, you can rent it to approved parties, and make it return you a handsome dividend. A lease and cottage costing you $110 would bring you in $600 in 20 years, if you rented it instead of using it. But WE must pass on the desirability of all tenants.

SPEND THE SUMMER AT HISTORIC PARKS HILL

Beautiful scenery—the Switzerland of Central Kentucky; fishing; boating; bathing; moving pictures; Blue Lick water; Lithia water; pure air; cool breezes; trees—12 acres; low cottage rents; low price restaurant; depot on grounds; tent rented or lots leased.

CARE OF THE FOAL

Mare foaling during the winter months or early spring should have protection from cold, disagreeable, rainy weather. While in the house they should be fed a wholesome feed of a laxative nature until grass is available. Rye is an excellent grazing for early foaling mares. Blue grass pasture is the most valuable feed for nursing mares, but it is not obtainable for the early foaling dams. Bran mash, boiled oats and oil meal are valuable feeds for confined dams as they keep the bowels of the dam in a healthy and laxative condition, all of which probably influences the development of the foal. A nursing dam receiving an over abundance of rich food may produce diarrhea in the foal.

Too much attention can not be given to clean roomy quarters for the mare at foaling time. The stable should be cleaned daily, and before the colt is dropped, bedding which has been disinfected by some chemical and allowed to dry, or straw which has been thoroughly exposed to the action of the sun's rays should be used.

Septic arthritis (joint ill) is one of the most common and fatal disease of the foal, due primarily to lack of hygienic measures at the time of foaling. This infection is caused by a micro-organism which gains entrance into the system through the navel. The navel cord should be washed with a 2 per cent carbolic acid solution and ligated as close to the abdomen as possible. Infection often occurs in the navel when the vessels are not immediately obliterated after birth. Antiseptic treatment of the navel should be continued until it is completely healed.

Navel ill in the colt is a sequel to infectious abortion in many studs, and the fact cannot be overlooked that colts might be infected at the time of birth. It has been observed that septic arthritis in colts is sometimes associated with infectious abortion in mares. Excluding this specific disease—abortion—the production of a healthy foal requires little attention other than proper feeding of the mare, clean quarters and protection from the weather. Owners should examine each foal carefully on its arrival and employ the precautionary measures indicated to reduce infection and thereby insure strong, healthy colts.

During foetal life the secretion from the liver (bile) is passed into the intestines where it is allowed to accumulate until birth. This bile often becomes dry and hard and results in constipation. The first milk from the dam contains a substance (colostrum) which acts as a purge for the foal. If the mammary gland is actively secreting milk prior to foaling, it is sometimes necessary to relieve the tension of the udder by gently stripping a portion of the milk. This frequently deprives the foal of the colostrum (first milk) which is essential in eliminating the dry feces (foetal bile secretion) contained in the intestine. The foal as a result may suffer from colicky pains and strain violently to pass the impacted feces. This condition can be controlled largely by feeding laxatives to the dam, but when the condition does appear the foal must be relieved by enemas of warm soap and water or oil. This should be repeated until the bowels move freely. R. L. Pontius, Veterinary Dep't., Experiment Sta., Lexington, Ky.

A FRIEND

How fortunate some of us are in our friends—how blest in being able to share with others the manifold joys which make for life other than material comforts and pleasures such as comprise the summing up of the mob. There is the book whose message we know was meant for more than one—the story from life which must be retold—the thought which so well expresses a sentiment we have often discussed together—experience and incidents and scenes which are enjoyed again in review through the medium of close companionship—all a golden store of mutual appreciation. To the warm heart and receptive mind even life itself and the very air we breathe are ever increasing blessings—prized the more because shared with someone. Emerson well says that "the only way to have a friend is to deserve one"—the which is final analysis of all human and heavenly equation. Much of that which passes for friendship is a pretense as devoid of its divine ichor as that semblance of love which Judas sold for a bit of silver. Insofar as concerns the world a friend is the man or woman who, to use the language of the street, goes through for us in time of need—who is fearless champion in our absence, and who not only believes in and defends but cheers and assists. These are noble attributes, and without them there could be no such word. He or she who is faithful, and true as hooks of steel, and willing to bear half, is real friend of inestimable possession. But the word has still a nearer and dearer interpretation which, as is given many of us to know, includes not only love and esteem, but understanding—twin sense of common sympathy which thrives only in spiritual soil—that touch of nature akin, whereby we multiply our joys and temper brief—and of which that still living admonition of Socrates to "oblige with all your soul that friend who has made you a present of his own" is the true test. Friendship of this kind not only blesses, but incites to better and higher attainment—for if held for long it must be deserved. To feel and know, forever and aye, is friendship—to recognize without sign and commune without speech—like to be born of kindred weaknesses and virtue both; but none the less an ideal relation. And the world is cursed with insincerity—with outward show and harlot's tears. Be true to your friend—as you must if true to yourself. Choose so you may be judged by them without shame—as the world will. Live so as to lay up greater store—if you can find. There is no more precious treasure for today nor higher heritage for the future, than a friend. —Arkansaw Thomas Cat.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD CHILD DIES

A telegram to Mr. Thomas Scott, Tuesday announced the death of his grandson, Harold, aged 5 years, son of George Scott, of Moments, Mo., from the effects of carbolic acid which the little fellow in some manner got hold of and died a short time after swallowing it. Mr. Ben Scott, of this city, attended the funeral.

WOMEN IN ARMS.

Think of it! Women in arms—fighting the battles of their country!

The bitterness and horrors of this war should be brought forcibly home to all civilized people by the action of the women of France.

When fighting becomes necessary it is assumed to be the exclusive province of man to engage in the active fray.

And yet this frightful war has reached the stage where the women of Paris are recruiting a regiment of soldiers among their own sex for duty in the field.

Men are needed on the battle line, and this regiment of women soldiers will shoulder their rifles and convey ammunition and provision trains, garrison conquered territory, and perform other field duty necessary in order to relieve men who are needed at the front.

Has the civilization of this world fallen so low that the mother of man must sink her sex and expose her fair breast to the mutilation of shot and shell?

Must she face the horrors of the battlefield, the rigors of a campaign and the pestilence of armed camps in order that kings, emperors and fools may satiate their cravings for official murder?

Women in arms! Is the lust of man for power so great that the sacredness of womanhood must be brushed aside, her frailty trampled in the dust, her privacy outraged by the glare of camp life?

God forbid! The patriotism of these women is sublime!

It has few parallels in history. But what a disgrace to mankind—what a blow to our blood bespattered civilization!

ARGUMENTS FOR CONSOLIDATION

(Continuation from last week of contributed article.)

It is not our purpose to enlarge upon each one of the thirty-six advantages of consolidation stated, but to present, as clearly as we can, the large gains that would come to rural schools from the adoption of consolidation. We may boast as we will of our present rural school system, but it is far from satisfactory—and for three chief reasons: First, its tendency is to secure teachers not fitted by age, experience, or training to perform the tremendously difficult and important task of training and teaching children; second, it renders impossible the proper grading of the schools, without which even the good teacher cannot succeed; and third, it does not provide for any schooling above the eighth grade, and puts the farmer who naturally desires more education for his children, to the necessity of sending them to town at great expense—at time too, when they should not be away from home—or of moving to town with his family to educate his children.

As to the teacher: Many of the teachers in the rural schools are young and without normal training. There are, of course, many cases where excellent teachers are secured for the country schools. Now the strength of the school depends almost absolutely upon the strength of the teacher, and it is unfortunate, to say the least, that the rural schools under the present system, secure the less capable teachers. It must be apparent that the consolidated school, which would add greatly to the interest of the work, brings the companionship of other teachers and the guidance of capable principle, releases the country teacher from the nightmare of an ungraded school, and inevitably results in raising the standard of efficiency among the teachers of the rural schools.

As to grading: Under the present system it is no unusual thing for a teacher to hear from twenty five to thirty classes a day. This gives from ten to twelve minutes to a recitation, which is wholly inadequate. Suppose three districts were consolidated, and only the same work were covered. There would still be twenty-five or thirty recitations, but it would be distributed among three teachers and ample time would be

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

available for each recitation. The teacher, instead of being forced to teach everything, whether she is fitted for it or not, could be assigned in a measure, at least, to work or grade for which she is especially fitted.

Moreover, she would have the very great advantage of the supervision and direction of an experienced and capable principle—for it is certain that the principalship of these schools would attract such men and women. The possibility of grade work is one the very greatest advantages to be derived from consolidation.

As to advanced work: Work above the eighth grade, or "common school course" would be entirely at the option of the consolidated district if only this work were given it would be better given, and more pupils would take it. But one of the objects of consolidation is to provide higher schooling for country children without sending them or taking them away from home; and in most cases, therefore, there will be a demand for additional grades. These should be added as they are needed, and not at the expense of thoroughness in the lower grades. The rural high school course, while following in some respects the high school courses of the cities, should differ from these in some essential particulars. It should harmonize with country life, leading to it instead of away from it. While not neglecting literary training, it should emphasize the natural sciences, and should be should in agriculture, manual training and domestic economy.

Selection of your Insurance Agent
more important than the selection of your Banker

Before you would deposit money in a bank you would investigate it most carefully. You would have to be satisfied of its ability to pay you your balance which you might want at any time. Now the balance you would keep in the bank is a comparatively small amount—not nearly as large an amount as you might have to demand from your insurance company in case of a sudden loss. In many cases the Insurance Policy protects a person's entire property, while the banker only has your surplus cash. Should your Insurance Agent fail you—you lose ALL, while if your Banker fails, you lose only your surplus change.

A local agent in Henry County, finding himself in difficulty because of insurance placed with a mutual company during the insurance famine in Kentucky last year, has written the following letter to the special agent of one of his companies: "Our very excellent Kentucky Mutual over at Covington has levied an assessment on its policyholders of twice the amount of its premium. I am unfortunate enough to have had a few small policies written in it last spring when all the companies had suspended business. The premiums amounting to $59, which makes the assessment $118 for which I am in the soup. I wrote the insurance department today asking what to do about this and whether or not the holder of these policies can be sued and compelled to pay this outrageous claim. Notice to the Farmers of Montgomery County:

Last year Mr. W. R. Tipton sold our fertilizers at Mt. Sterling and so far as we know every one that used it was satisfied with the goods. As Mr. Tipton will not handle our goods this year we have arranged with Mr. John G. Roberts, the wholesale grocery man, to handle same. We have had our fertilizer made especially for tobacco and if you want to make a fine, bright crop send your orders to Mr. Roberts. Silas Shelburne, Lexington, Ky. 41-4t.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS

The grand jury adjourned last Thursday after finding thirty indictments. Circuit Court, however, is still in session but only a few minor cases are being tried. Few cases of any importance have been before the court this session. The report of the grand jury is as follows:

To the Hon. Wm. A. Young, Circuit Judge:

We, the grand jury for the April term, 1915, of the Montgomery Circuit Court, would most respectfully report that we have been in session six days, and have diligently inquired into all violations of the law of which we have knowledge or could secure information concerning, and, as a result, have found and returned 30 indictments.

We have examined the officer's reports, and so far we can learn, they are correct.

We have also examined the courthouse, jail and other public buildings and find them in good condition and well kept. Especially is that true of the School Superintendent's office, which we found in a very clean and attractive condition.

Respectfully submitted,
W. P. Apperson, Foreman.
